Report to the President and Congress Pursuant to Section 209 of the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act of 2008

The United States Consumer Product Safety Commission (“CPSC” or “the Commission”) is submitting this report to the President, Congress, and the public, as required under section 27(j) (15 U.S.C. 2076(j)) of the Consumer Product Safety Act (“CPSA”), as amended by the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act of 2008 (“CPSIA”). The content of this report is specified in the CPSA and the CPSIA. The report describes many of the activities the CPSC performed to protect the public from hazardous consumer products in fiscal year 2013 (“2013”). Readers may also be interested in the CPSC’s 2013 Annual Performance Report, required by the Government Performance and Results Act. Both reports are available on the CPSC’s website at: www.cpsc.gov/en/About-CPSC/Agency-Reports/Performance-and-Budget/.

The CPSC, established by Congress in 1972, is the federal regulatory body tasked with protecting children and families from unreasonable risks of injuries or death associated with consumer products. The Commission has been effective in reducing consumer product-related injury and death rates by using a wide range of strategies to identify and address product safety hazards. This report is organized around the five strategies noted below:

- Hazard Identification and Monitoring: collecting information and monitoring injury and death statistics related to the use of products under the CPSC’s jurisdiction;
- Safety Standards: participating in the development and strengthening of voluntary safety standards and developing mandatory standards;
- Compliance and Enforcement: enforcing compliance with standards through compliance activities, such as recalls or other corrective actions, and litigating when necessary;
- Public Outreach: educating consumers, families, foreign governments, and industry about product safety recalls, safety programs and alerts, emerging hazards, and safety standards; and
- Intergovernmental Coordination: coordinating work on product safety issues with other governmental stakeholders.

Hazard Identification and Monitoring

The Commission, in fulfilling its mission to protect the public against unreasonable risks of injuries associated with consumer products, collects, reviews, and analyzes data on deaths, injuries, and societal costs associated with such products. This section describes the “Incidence of Injury and Effects to the Population” associated with products under the jurisdiction of the Commission. Four tables present summary data by totals and by age groups for:

- product-related deaths;
- product-related injuries;
- percent of emergency department visits resulting in hospitalization; and
- estimated costs of injuries.

Product-Related Deaths (Table 1). The CPSC collects mortality data through contracts with each state. The CPSC reviews about 8,000 death certificates each year, covering unintentional product-related deaths from all 50 states and the District of Columbia. The CPSC purchases death certificates that have a high probability of consumer product involvement. However, due to resource constraints, we cannot purchase all product-related death certificates, and because the death certificates we purchase sometimes fail to identify the products involved, the total number of actual product-related deaths may be higher than the number we report. Although the deaths in this table represent product involvement, that involvement does not necessarily indicate causality.

Product-Related Injuries (Tables 2 and 3). Each year, the CPSC collects information about product-related injuries through its National Electronic Injury Surveillance System (“NEISS”). This unique system provides statistically valid national estimates of product-related injuries from a probability sample of hospital emergency departments (“EDs”) and is the foundation for many CPSC activities. These injury reports not only provide the means for estimating the magnitude of consumer product-related injuries in the United States, but the reports also provide a resource for gathering additional information concerning the nature and potential cause of accidents. Several foreign governments have modeled their national injury data-collection systems after the CPSC’s system. Annually, NEISS supplies almost 400,000 product-related cases from a sample of about 100 hospitals. The hospitals transmit incident information electronically, and in some cases, the data are available within 24 hours after an incident. Table 2 presents data on estimates of injuries associated with consumer products that resulted in hospital ED treatment. Table 3 presents estimates of the percent of such injuries for which the treated individuals were subsequently hospitalized. Although the injuries in these tables represent product involvement, that involvement does not necessarily indicate causality.

Cost of Product-Related Injuries (Table 4). To estimate costs of hospital ED-treated, consumer product injuries, the CPSC employs its Revised Injury Cost Model. The costs noted in this report do not include the costs of consumer product-related injuries that were treated elsewhere, such as in physicians’ offices, health maintenance organizations, and freestanding urgent care clinics. Estimates also do not include the economic losses of fatalities associated with the use of consumer products. These losses may be substantial. Furthermore, cost estimates are not available for many acute and chronic illnesses associated with exposure to chemical hazards. The number and costs of these illnesses are expected to be large.

Products are aggregated into 15 product groupings for the deaths, injuries, and cost data presented (see pp. 7–8). These products are described in the NEISS Coding Manual, Directorate for Epidemiology, U.S. CPSC. The NEISS Coding Manual can be found online at:

www.cpsc.gov/Media/Documents/Research--Statistics/NEISS-Injury-Data/NEISS-Coding-Manual.

Additional data are collected and analyzed to develop more detailed estimates concerning products for which Commission remedial action has been considered. Based on interviews with victims or witnesses, the Commission identifies causes of incidents, including the interactions among the persons involved, the products, and the environment. Using all of the available data, Commission staff periodically prepares hazard analysis reports for selected products. Table 1 - Deaths Associated with the Use of Certain Consumer ProductsOctober 1, 2009–September 30, 2010

This table presents the number of death certificate reported fatalities associated with, but not necessarily caused by, the use of consumer products. These statistics were produced from data extracted from death certificates that the Commission purchases from the states. The time required for collection and processing varies by state, but the majority of death certificates are received within 2 years of the date of death. However, because of the 2 to 4 year time-lag in receiving 95 percent or more of the death certificates the CPSC has contracted for, this table represents deaths only through September 30, 2010. For deaths after that period, the CPSC is still collecting data. Although the National Center for Health Statistics' ("NCHS") mortality files do not support allocation of death estimates to associated product groups, CPSC estimates from these mortality files that there were 37,200 annual consumer product-related deaths in the October 1, 2009–September 30, 2010 time period.

Table 2 - Estimates of Hospital Emergency Department-Treated Injuries
Associated with the Use of Certain Consumer Products

October 1, 2011–September 30, 2012¹

This table presents the estimates of hospital emergency department-treated injuries associated with, but not necessarily caused by, the use of consumer products. The table is based on data collected from a statistically representative sample of hospitals as part of the Commission's NEISS. The NEISS hospital sample has been updated periodically to take into account changes that have occurred in the NEISS sampling frame of emergency departments over time (e.g., including hospital emergency departments opened after the initial sampling frame was constructed). In addition, over time, there have been modifications to the definition of "in-scope injuries." The emergency department-treated injury estimates in this table comprise a component of the approximately 38.3 million medically treated injuries, which include injuries treated in emergency departments, medical clinics, and doctors' offices. CPSC uses NEISS data and the CPSC Injury Cost Model to calculate the number of medically treated injuries.

Table 4 - Estimates of the Cost of Emergency Department-Treated Consumer Product Injuries

October 1, 2011–September 30, 2012
(in millions of dollars)

This table is derived by applying the Commission's Revised Injury Cost Model⁴ to the estimates of hospital emergency department-treated injuries calculated in Table 2.⁵ Injury cost estimates are adjusted⁶ to 2012 price levels using the employment cost index and the per capita medical care consumption expenditure. The estimated emergency department-treated injury costs in this table comprise a component of the costs associated with the approximately 38.3 million medically treated injuries, which include injuries treated in emergency departments, medical clinics, and doctors' offices.

SAFETY STANDARDS

The Commission reduces consumer product hazards through the development of mandatory safety standards and staff involvement in the development and strengthening of voluntary safety standards. This section presents information about:

- mandatory safety standards in effect;
- voluntary safety standards for which staff provided monitoring or technical support; and
- research activities conducted by staff.

1) Mandatory Safety Standards: Mandatory standards are developed through rulemaking. Under most of the acts the CPSC enforces, if a voluntary standard exists, by law, the Commission may not issue a mandatory standard, unless it finds that the voluntary standard will not eliminate or adequately reduce the risk of injury or death, or determines that it is unlikely that there will be substantial compliance with the voluntary standard. During the rulemaking process, staff seeks input from all interested parties, including consumers, industry, and other government agencies. The CPSC develops performance requirements, rather than design requirements, to give manufacturers the most flexibility. Examples of products for which mandatory standards are under development include: portable generators, upholstered furniture, recreational off-highway vehicles (“ROVs”), rare earth magnet sets, table saws, and firepots and fuel gels.

On August 14, 2008, the President signed into law the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act of 2008 (“CPSIA”). The CPSIA directs the Commission to implement numerous rulemakings and other official Commission actions intended to enhance the safety of consumer products. More than 40 separate rules or rulemaking activities were mandated by the CPSIA. Examples of rulemakings, related rulemaking activities, and official actions mandated or initiated pursuant to the CPSIA include: lead content determinations and exclusions; interpretative rules for children’s products, children’s toys, and a child care article; labeling of consumer products as complying with certification requirements; consumer registration forms; and new safety standards and accreditation requirements for durable infant or toddler products.

2) Voluntary Safety Standards: The CPSC’s statutory authority requires it to rely on voluntary standards rather than issue mandatory standards whenever compliance with a voluntary standard would eliminate or adequately reduce the risk of injury identified and it is likely there will be substantial compliance with the voluntary standard. CPSC staff works with organizations that facilitate the development of voluntary standards. Staff participates in the development of voluntary standards at a number of stages in the process. Staff first submits recommendations to voluntary standards organizations for new standards or modifications of existing standards. After receiving CPSC staff recommendations, organizations may conduct technical assessments (as appropriate); publish a proposal for public comment; receive and evaluate comments; or publish a standard. This process may take months to several years. Staff participates in the process by providing expert advice, technical assistance, and information based on data analyses of how deaths, injuries, or incidents occurred. The CPSC’s voluntary standards policy currently does not permit staff to vote on proposed changes or new standards. Staff’s comments are, however, considered throughout the process.

The CPSIA added authority for the Commission, in certain cases, to specify by rule that a product or product class that does not comply with a voluntary standard is a substantial product hazard under the CPSA. This facilitates obtaining corrective actions when products are found in commerce that do not comply with the voluntary standards. The Commission adopted two of these rules in 2011, for hair dryers and children’s upper outerwear with drawstrings.

- 3) Research Activities: CPSC staff conducts and sponsors many research and study projects in furtherance of its activities to improve product safety and reduce or eliminate potential hazards associated with consumer products. Staff may use the findings from these projects to develop and refine positions on voluntary and mandatory product safety standards. Examples include research on adult portable bed rails, fireworks, technology to mitigate cooking fires, collaborative research with other federal agencies on nanotechnology, portable generators, seniors' hazards, furniture and television tipovers, and recreational off-highway vehicles.

Mandatory Rulemaking Activity in 2013

The following voluntary standards became mandatory consumer product safety standards in 2013:

- Durable Infant or Toddler Products - Infant Swings, 16 C.F.R. parts 1224 and 1221. The Danny Keysar Child Product Safety Notification Act, Section 104 of the CPSIA, requires the CPSC to promulgate consumer product safety standards for durable infant or toddler products. These standards are to be “substantially the same as” applicable voluntary standards or more stringent than the voluntary standard if the Commission concludes that more stringent requirements would further reduce the risk of injury associated with the product. In 2013, the CPSC promulgated one safety standard for children’s products; it is a safety standard for infant swings. The Final Rule for infant swings was published in the Federal Register on November 7, 2012, and the rule became effective on May 7, 2013. This standard incorporates by reference ASTM F2088-12a, “Standard Consumer Safety Specification for Infant Swings,” with the addition of a labeling modification to strengthen the standard and a revised test method to address an omission in the voluntary standard of a test method for toy mobiles that are attached to the swing.

The following mandatory standards were revised, amended, or accepted in 2013:

- Durable Infant or Toddler Products - Infant Walkers, 16 C.F.R. part 1216, Infant Swings, 16 C.F.R. part 1223, and Play Yards, 16 C.F.R. part 1221. In accordance with section 104(b) of the CPSIA, the CPSC has published consumer product safety standards for numerous durable infant or toddler products, including infant walkers, infant swings, and play yards. The standards for infant walkers and infant swings incorporated by reference the ASTM voluntary standards associated with those products, with some modifications; the standard for play yards incorporated by reference the ASTM voluntary standard for play yards, with three clarifications. In August 2011, Congress enacted Public Law No. 112–28, which sets forth a process for updating standards that the Commission has issued under the authority of section 104(b) of the CPSIA. In accordance with that process, the CPSC published direct final rules, revising the mandatory consumer product safety standards for infant walkers and infant swings to incorporate by reference more recent versions of the applicable ASTM standards. The ASTM revisions made the voluntary standards nearly the same as the mandatory standards that the CPSC had issued previously. For play yards, the CPSC published a final rule that incorporates by reference ASTM F406-13, with several exclusions for provisions that apply to non-full-size cribs only; through this amendment, the Commission addressed hazards associated with misassembly of play yard bassinet accessories. The Direct Final Rule for infant walkers and infant swings was published in the Federal Register on June 24, 2013, with an effective date of October 7, 2013. The Final Rule for play yards was published in the Federal Register on August 19, 2013, with an effective date of February 19, 2014.
- Testing and Labeling Pertaining to Product Certification Regarding Representative Samples for Periodic Testing of Children’s Products, 16 C.F.R. §§ 1107.21 and 1107.26. This rule amends 16 C.F.R. §§ 1107.21 and 1107.26 of the Commission’s regulation on testing and labeling pertaining to product certification to implement the statutory requirement in section 14(i)(2)(B) of the CPSA for the periodic testing of representative samples of children’s products, as well as associated recordkeeping. Specifically, this rule amends 16 C.F.R. § 1107.21(f) to require a manufacturer to select representative product samples to be submitted to a third party conformity assessment body for periodic testing. The rule also amends 16 C.F.R. 1107.26(a)(4) to require a manufacturer of a children’s product subject to an applicable children’s product safety rule to maintain records documenting the testing of representative samples, including the number of representative samples selected and the procedure used to select the representative samples. The Final Rule was published in the Federal Register on December 5, 2012, with an effective date of February 8, 2013.

- Revisions to Animal Testing Regulations, 16 C.F.R. part 1500. This rule amends regulations on the CPSC’s animal testing methods under the Federal Hazardous Substances Act (“FHSA”). The rule amends regulations that interpret, supplement, or provide alternatives to definitions of animal test methods used to aid in the classification of hazardous substances under the FHSA. The Final Rule was published in the Federal Register on December 10, 2012, with an effective date of January 9, 2013.
- Children’s Products Containing Lead: Procedures and Requirements for Exclusions from Lead Limits Under Section 101(b) of the CPSIA, 16 C.F.R. § 1500.90. This rule amends the Commission’s regulations pertaining to procedures and requirements for exclusions from lead limits under section 101(b) by replacing the current procedures and requirements with the statutory procedures and requirements set forth under Public Law No. 112-28. The final rule was published in the Federal Register on July 10, 2013, with an effective date of July 10, 2013.
- Cigarette Lighters: Adjusted Customs Value for Cigarette Lighters, 16 C.F.R. part 1210. The Commission’s safety standard for disposable and novelty lighters requires these products to meet specified requirements for child resistance. The standard defines “disposable lighters,” in part, as refillable lighters that use butane or similar fuels and have a Customs Value or ex-factory price below a threshold value (initially set at $2.00 in 1993). The standard provides that the initial $2.00 value adjust every 5 years for inflation, as measured by the percentage change since June 1993, in the monthly Producer Price Index (“PPI”) for miscellaneous fabricated products. The adjustment is rounded to the nearest $0.25 increment. Due to an increase in the PPI, the Customs Value or ex-factory price recently adjusted to $2.50. This rule revises the cigarette lighter standard to state that the import value has adjusted to $2.50 based on the change to the PPI. The final rule was published in the Federal Register on August 26, 2013, with an effective date of August 26, 2013.

The following mandatory Final Rules were promulgated in 2013:

- Requirements Pertaining to Third Party Conformity Assessment Bodies, 16 C.F.R. parts 1112 and 1118. This rule establishes requirements pertaining to the third party conformity assessment bodies (“laboratories”) whose accreditations are accepted to test children’s products in support of the certification required by the CPSA, as amended by the CPSIA. The final rule establishes the general requirements for third party conformity assessment bodies, such as the requirements and procedures for CPSC acceptance of the accreditation of a third party conformity assessment body. The rule also addresses adverse actions that may be imposed against CPSC-accepted third party conformity assessment bodies. The final rule also amends the audit requirements for third party conformity assessment bodies and amends the Commission regulation on inspections. The Final Rule was published on the Federal Register on Tuesday, March 12, 2013 and was effective on June 10, 2013.
- Child-Resistant Packaging: Products Containing Imidazolines Equivalent to 0.08 Milligrams or More, 16 C.F.R. part 1700. This rule requires child-resistant (“CR”) packaging for any over-the-counter or prescription product containing the equivalent of 0.08 milligrams or more of an imidazoline, a class of drugs that includes tetrahydrozoline, naphazoline, oxymetazoline, and xylometazoline, in a single package. This rule, promulgated under the Poison Prevention Packaging Act of 1970 (“PPPA”), was published in the Federal Register on December 10, 2012, with an effective date of December 10, 2013.

- Codification of Animal Testing Policy, 16 C.F.R. part 1500. With this final rule, the Commission codified its statement of policy on animal testing that provides guidance for manufacturers of products subject to the FHSA), regarding replacement, reduction, and refinement of animal testing methods. The final rule was published in the Federal Register on December 10, 2012, with an effective date of January 9, 2013.

The following final guidance was issued in 2013:

- Children’s Toys and Child Care Articles Containing Phthalates: Final Guidance on Inaccessible Component Parts, 16 C.F.R. part 1199. The CPSIA directs the Commission to promulgate a rule providing guidance on what product component, or classes of components, will be considered to be inaccessible or adopt the same guidance regarding inaccessibility that was adopted by the Commission about accessibility of lead under section 101(b)(2)(B) (15 U.S.C. 1278a(b)(2)(B)), with additional consideration, as appropriate, on whether the component can be placed in a child’s mouth (15 U.S.C. 2057c (d)(3)). This final guidance on inaccessible phthalate-containing component parts was published in the Federal Register on February 14, 2013. Although guidance documents do not require a particular effective date under the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. 553 (d)(2), the Commission recognizes the need for providing the guidance expeditiously. Furthermore, material published in the Code of Federal Regulations must have an effective date. Thus, the final guidance was issued with an effective date of February 14, 2013, which was the date of publication in the Federal Register.

2) Voluntary Safety Standards

The CPSC issues the Voluntary Standards Tracking and Access Report (“VSTAR”) on a semi-annual basis. The report includes the objective of each standard under development, the name of the employee involved in the activity, the status of the standard, and the next step planned in the standard development process. A summary from the VSTAR FY 2013 annual report is provided below for convenience. The Web address for the report is:

www.cpsc.gov//Global/Newsroom/FOIA/CommissionBriefingPackages/2014/VoluntaryStandardsActivitiesFY%202013AnnualReport.pdf.

Forty new, revised, or reaffirmed voluntary safety standards, for which CPSC staff provided monitoring or technical support, were completed during the period from October 1, 2012 to September 30, 2013. These voluntary safety standards address: stationary activity centers, bassinets and cradles (two standards), bath seats, bunk beds, toddler beds, bedside sleepers, bicycles (two standards), blind cords, booster seats, candles (four standards), high chairs, youth folding chairs (two standards), full-size cribs, non-full-size cribs recreational helmets, hand-held infant carriers (two standards), soft infant carriers, infant gates, baby monitors, the National Electrical Code, phthalates, infant slings (two standards), infant swings, infant tubs, strollers, trampoline courts, and tree stands (five standards).

In total, from October 1, 2012 to September 30, 2013, CPSC staff provided technical support (summarized in the VSTAR) or monitored the development of 74 voluntary safety standards activities. During FY 2013, CPSC staff’s involvement in voluntary standards focused on the voluntary standards activities associated with implementing the CPSIA, Pub .L. No.110-314. Voluntary standards development activities are handled primarily by three standards development/coordinating organizations: ASTM International (previously called the American Society for Testing and Materials), the American National Standards Institute (“ANSI”), and Underwriters Laboratories Inc. (“UL”). The standards that are developed using the procedures of these organizations provide safety provisions addressing potential hazards associated with consumer products found in homes, schools, and recreation areas.

3) Research Activities

Commission staff conducts studies and investigates deaths, injuries, diseases, and economic costs associated with consumer products. This research is used to identify hazardous products and design effective strategies to reduce product hazards. In 2013, CPSC staff conducted or participated in the following research:

Adult Bed Rails: Staff conducted a review of existing epidemiological data of deaths and injuries associated with bed rails for consumers 13 years of age and older. A memorandum, Adult Portable Bed Rails-Related Deaths, Injuries and Potential Injuries: January 2003–September 2012 was completed and can be found on the CPSC website at: www.cpsc.gov/PageFiles/133466/adultbedrail.pdf.

ATV Annual Data Update: Staff prepared the annual report on ATV-related deaths and injuries. The report includes data on deaths by state, relative risk of death by year, and injuries distributed by year and age grouping. The report is available on the CPSC website at: www.cpsc.gov/Global/Research-and-Statistics/Injury-Statistics/atv2011.pdf.

Brain Injury Study: A final contract report, Incidence and Cost of Carbon Monoxide Poisonings for All Ages, Swimming Pool and Spa Submersions for Ages 0-14, and Lead Poisoning for Ages 0-4, was completed. The report addresses both the commonalities and the differences among the three causes of brain injuries, with a focus on incidence of injuries; the role of consumer products in the injuries; the severity of the injuries; and the medical costs, productivity losses, and lost quality of life associated with each type of brain injury. The report is available on the CPSC website at: www.cpsc.gov/Global/Research-and-Statistics/Injury-Statistics/Carbon-Monoxide-Positioning/IncidenceandCostofCarbonMonoxidePoisoningPoolandSpaSubmersionandLeadPositioning.pdf.

Carbon Monoxide-Related Annual Updates: Staff prepared the annual report on carbon monoxide fatalities associated with consumer products. The report is available at: www.cpsc.gov/Global/Research-and-Statistics/Injury-Statistics/Carbon-Monoxide-Positioning/2010NonFireCODeathsFINAL.pdf. Staff also completed the annual report on CO incidents associated with generators and engine-driven tools. It is available at: www.cpsc.gov/Global/Research-and-Statistics/Injury-Statistics/Carbon-Monoxide-Positioning/GeneratorsAndOEDTFatalities2013FINAL.pdf.

Chemical Toxicity Assessments: Staff continued to study emissions from spray polyurethane foam insulation through an interagency agreement with the National Institute of Standards and Technology (“NIST”). Staff also presented a poster at a scientific conference on CPSC’s online resources relating to spray polyurethane foam. Staff conducted a preliminary risk assessment of flame retardants (“FR”) in infant and toddler mattresses. A contractor report reviewed the available toxicity data on one FR used in polyurethane foam. The staff completed an analysis regarding the Interagency Coordination Committee for the Validation of Alternative Methods (“ICCVAM”) recommendation to reduce the number of animals for ocular irritant testing (in the FHSA) from a maximum of 18 to 3. The staff also updated agency booklets on formaldehyde and paint strippers.

Cook Tops: Staff issued a contract for follow-up testing on an experimental control system for gas-fueled cooktops that was designed to limit the maximum attainable pan temperature to reduce the likelihood of food fires. The objective of the testing was to verify that the experimental control system was effective in preventing ignition of food in a pan.

Durable Nursery Products Exposure Survey: Staff completed the data-collection phase of the exposure survey, which will provide staff with baseline data to help evaluate durable nursery products voluntary standards and to measure potential future impacts of the CPSIA mandatory requirements on durable infant or toddler products.

Electrocution Annual Data Update: Staff completed its annual report on the number of electrocutions associated with consumer products, and the report is available on the CPSC's website at:

www.cpsc.gov/PageFiles/136139/2009electrocutions.pdf.

Fire-Related Annual Updates: Staff completed its annual report on residential fire losses. The report, 2009–2011 Residential Fire Loss Estimates: U.S. National Estimates of Fires, Deaths, Injuries, and Property Losses from Unintentional Fires, is available on the CPSC website at: www.cpsc.gov/Global/Research-and-Statistics/Injury-Statistics/Fuel-Lighters-and-Fireworks/2009-2011ResidentialFireLossEstimatesFinal.pdf.

Fireworks: Staff released its annual report on deaths and injuries associated with fireworks. The report, 2012 Fireworks Annual Report, Fireworks-Related Deaths, Emergency Department-Treated Injuries, and Enforcement Activities During 2012, is available on the CPSC website at:

www.cpsc.gov/Global/Research-and-Statistics/Injury-Statistics/Fuel-Lighters-and-Fireworks/Fireworks_Report_2012.pdf.

Staff also reviewed voluntary standards and scientific literature, constructed testing chambers and carried out preliminary testing to develop alternate test methods to measure the energy release of aerial fireworks. A report, Fireworks Safety Standards Development Project FY 2013 Status Report, is available on the CPSC website at: www.cpsc.gov/Global/Research-and-Statistics/Injury-Statistics/Fuel-Lighters-and-Fireworks/FY2013FireworksStatusReport.pdf.

Firepots: Staff continued characterization work on firepots and fuels intended to be used with firepots to support developing a notice of proposed rulemaking (“NPR”). Additionally, a report, Technical Note 1791: Evaluation of Firepots and Gel Fuels, authored by National Institute of Standards and Technology (“NIST”) staff as part of an interagency agreement (“IAG”) with CPSC, was completed and posted to the NIST website at: dx.doi.org/10.6028/NIST.TN.1791.

Furniture and Television Tool-Less Installation of Anchors and Restraints: Staff examined the potential for restraining furniture and televisions using materials that do not require tools for installation. Staff also considered the feasibility of furniture and television anchors that do not damage walls. Both strategies are believed to enhance the likelihood that consumers will be able to install anchors on their furniture and televisions. Many tool-free anchoring strategies appeared to be promising and worthy of more engineering work. Staff prepared an internal working document to assist with future projects in innovative anchoring strategies.

Lead in Paint and Substrate Materials: Staff continued to study the applicability of different types of x-ray fluorescence (“XRF”) for measuring lead in paint and substrate materials. CPSC issued new test methods for lead in substrates for third party test laboratories, allowing for increased use of XRF in glass and metal substrates. The methods are available on the CPSC website at: www.cpsc.gov/PageFiles/137829/CPSC-CH-E1001-08_3.pdf and www.cpsc.gov/PageFiles/137832/CPSC-CH-E1002-08_3.pdf.

Nanotechnology:

Airborne Nanoparticles from Consumer Products: Researchers from the National Institute for Standards and Technology (“NIST”) completed a final report on testing to determine the release of nanoparticles into indoor air from a range of paints and coating materials. This project is the second phase of an initial agreement signed in 2011, and the project will meet an important objective in developing methods to distinguish engineered nanoparticles from nanoparticles that may be produced incidentally in the home. A final report for the 2011 phase of this research project has been completed, and CPSC has received an interim report describing the results of the 2012 phase 2 study. NIST researchers are working with the ASTM Committee E56 on Nanotechnology to incorporate test methods into the voluntary standards that were developed from their efforts.

Carbon Nanotubes in Consumer Products: NIST, under a Memorandum of Understanding (“MOU”) with the CPSC, continued its testing of selected consumer products containing nanotubes.

Enhancement of the National Library of Medicine (“NLM”) Household Products Database: The National Library of Medicine, under an existing MOU with the CPSC, continued its efforts to identify approaches to enhance the Household Products Database (“HPD”) and its associated websites. Through the work conducted under the MOU, information is being developed that will provide consumers and scientists with knowledge about the uses of nanomaterials in products and the health effects of nanoparticles. The information can be found at the following links: toxtown.nlm.nih.gov/text_version/chemicals.php?id=67 and sis.nlm.nih.gov/enviro/nanotechnology.html.

Nanomaterials in Consumer Products (Exposure and Risk Assessment): Staff continued to support work involving an interagency agreement (“IAG”) among the National Science Foundation (“NSF”), the U.S. EPA, and the CPSC. The NSF, in collaboration with NIST, completed a review of studies related to previous findings and experimental procedures for quantifying release of, and exposure to, nanomaterials from treated products. A draft model that can quantify risks from nanomaterials is under development and review.

Nanomaterials in Aerosol Products: A manuscript describing the results of an investigation into nanoparticles incorporated into inks and toners used in home office equipment was completed. The abstract and manuscript are located at this link: informahealthcare.com/doi/abs/10.3109/08958378.2014.908987. The National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (“NIOSH”) conducted this testing and the testing included quantification of the concentrations and characteristics of airborne nanoparticles released during use.

Nanomaterials in Aerosol Products (Exposure and Inhalation Effects): A second manuscript resulting from 2012 research by NIOSH (and supported by CPSC) into the exposure and health effects associated with the use of nanomaterials in newly selected aerosol products was completed. A first manuscript was published in the Inhalation Toxicology Journal in 2012, and the abstract is located at this link: informahealthcare.com/doi/abs/10.3109/08958378.2012.685111. The second manuscript can be accessed at: www.tandfonline.com/doi/abs/10.1080/15287394.2013.792024#.

Nanomaterials in Products and Public Health: An interim report on the results of a study on the release of nanomaterials from clothing during consumer-use scenarios was completed. The study was conducted under an IAG with the National Science Foundation (“NSF”).

Nanosilver in Consumer (Children’s) Products: Work based on research begun in 2012 continued. In 2012, a draft report on the use of nanosilver in selected consumer products was completed. The presence of silver nanoparticles in a wide range of consumer products primarily used by children was confirmed. A manuscript describing the results of these studies was completed, and the abstract can be found at this link: pubs.acs.org/doi/abs/10.1021/es4015844. A second manuscript about the use of nanosilver in selected consumer products was developed in 2013, and the second manuscript was under agency review as of September 30, 2013.

Nanotechnology Annual Data Update: Staff purchased reports describing the commercialization of nanomaterials and updated the internal database of products that contain nanomaterials. This information was summarized in a draft annual update that also includes a summary of staff activities related to nanotechnology. Following a meeting of the International Life Sciences Institute (“ILSI”) Nano Release Consumer Products Project, hosted by CPSC staff in 2012, CPSC, in collaboration with NIST staff, will conduct testing and methods development activities that are part of an international effort led by the ILSI steering committee.

Nanotechnology Research (Nanomaterial Exposure, Risk, and Consumer Products): A status report on a collaborative research effort among the EPA and similar agencies within the United Kingdom to develop research to quantify nanomaterial exposure to consumers and to develop risk models to predict potential health effects was completed. The researchers are part of an international team whose collaboration is serving as a model for systematically addressing complex problems associated with nanoparticle risk assessment. The research effort began in 2012, and was supported by CPSC staff.

Nursery Products Annual Update: Staff completed its report on nursery product-related injuries and deaths to children under age 5. The report, Injuries and Deaths Associated with Nursery Products Among Children Younger than Age Five, is located on the CPSC website at: www.cpsc.gov/Global/Research-and-Statistics/Injury-Statistics/Toys/nurseryproductsinjuries121313FINAL.pdf.

Upholstered Furniture: Staff reviewed relevant test data and reports prepared by staff and outside organizations. Staff also developed a multitrack project plan based on reviewing the data as well as monitoring the issue of flame retardant chemicals. Staff also developed a project plan for completion of the open rulemaking proceeding and hosted a Furniture Fire Safety Technology Meeting in April 2013. The meeting announcement is available at: www.cpsc.gov/en/Regulations-Laws--Standards/Federal-Register-Notices/2013/Upholstered-Furniture-Fire-Safety-Technology-Meeting/. Videos of the meeting are available at: www.cpsc.gov/en/Newsroom/Multimedia/?vid=64490. Staff provided testimony for the State of California’s regulatory effort to revise the California Technical Bulletin 117 standard, and provided technical support to CPSC’s Office of Legislative Affairs regarding Congressional activities related to this project.

Compliance and Enforcement

The CPSC learns about potential product defects from many sources, including incident reports, consumer complaints, the agency's Hotline, and SaferProducts.gov. In addition, firms are required legally to report to the Commission potential product hazards or violations of standards. The Commission works with companies to remove products from the marketplace when they violate mandatory safety standards or are defective and create a substantial risk of injury. This section presents:

- Voluntary recall orders taken by importers or manufacturers;
- Letters of Advice to importers and manufacturers; and
- Commission determinations and judicial actions.

1) Voluntary Recall Orders Taken by Importers or Manufacturers: Through investigations of potential product defects, Headquarters and Field staff identify defective products not covered by regulations. In addition, firms, by law, are required to report potential product hazards or violations of standards to the Commission. When a recall is necessary, Compliance staff negotiates with the responsible firm. In 2013, CPSC staff completed 373 cooperative recalls (100 percent voluntary) of products that either violated mandatory standards, or were defective and presented a substantial risk of injury to the public. If a firm refuses to recall a product voluntarily, the CPSC may file an administrative complaint seeking to require a recall. This section lists the voluntary recalls announced in 2013 that were performed by companies to address possible hazards.

The CPSC developed the Fast-Track program to streamline the process of recalls for firms willing and prepared to recall their products quickly. Because every defective product could present a risk of injury or death, removing hazardous products from the marketplace faster can prevent more injuries and save lives. Last year, 208 of 373 recalls were under the Fast-Track program. Recalls under the Fast-Track program are conducted without the need for time-consuming hazard analyses. In 2013, Fast-Track recalls were initiated within 20 days of a firm's report to the CPSC 98 percent of the time.

2) Letters of Advice to Importers or Manufacturers: For all products regulated by the CPSC, the Commission issues a Letter of Advice ("LOA") when there is a violation of a mandatory standard. LOAs advise the company of the violation and the nature of the necessary corrective action (to correct future production ("CFP"); to stop sale and CFP; or to recall, stop sale, and CFP). This section lists the LOAs sent to importers and manufacturers in 2013, where the Commission received a response from the company confirming the violation and the Commission decided that the company voluntarily completed corrective action to remedy the hazard.

3) Commission Determinations and Judicial Actions: When companies knowingly fail to report potential product hazards or violations of standards to the Commission, as required by law, the CPSC can seek civil penalties in U.S. courts. In 2013, the CPSC negotiated out-of-court settlements in which nine companies voluntarily agreed to pay $7.962 million in civil penalties to the U.S. Treasury. Other tools used for enforcement may include legal action under either section 12 or section 15(c) or 15(d); federal court actions for violating the statutes administered by the CPSC; and pursuing criminal cases, where appropriate. Enforcement and litigation activities are listed in several tables in this section of the report.

1) Voluntary Recall Actions Taken by Importers or Manufacturers

Headquarters and Field staff identifies defective products not covered by regulations through their investigations of potential product defects. In addition, firms are required by law to report to the Commission about potential product hazards or violations of standards. When a recall is necessary, Compliance staff negotiates with the responsible firm. In 2013, CPSC staff completed 373 cooperative recalls (100 percent voluntary) of products that either violated mandatory standards or were defective and presented a substantial risk of injury to the public. If a firm refuses to recall a product voluntarily, the CPSC may file an administrative complaint seeking to require a recall. This section lists the voluntary recalls announced in 2013 that were performed by companies to address possible hazards..

3) Commission Determinations and Judicial Actions

When companies knowingly fail to report potential product hazards or violations of standards to the Commission, as required under section 15 of the CPSA, the CPSC can seek civil penalties. The Commission has the authority to compromise any civil penalty or file suit in federal court seeking a civil penalty. In 2013, the CPSC negotiated out-of-court settlements in which seven companies voluntarily agreed to pay $7.962 million in civil penalties to the U.S. Treasury.

The Commission has a variety of enforcement authority, including the ability to take legal action under section 12 (to declare a product an imminently hazardous consumer product) or section 15(c) or 15(d) of the CPSA (to protect the public from products that present a substantial product hazard or order a recall or other corrective action as appropriate, respectively). The Commission may also pursue criminal penalties against offenders. Enforcement and litigation activities of the Commission are listed in several tables below.

Lawsuits Filed Seeking Mandatory Recall Remedies under Section 15 of the CPSA

In 2013, CPSC filed suit against a company that manufactured and distributed rare earth magnets. In January 2013, this lawsuit was consolidated with a lawsuit filed by the CPSC in 2012, against two other companies that manufacture and distribute rare earth magnets. The actions seek determinations that these products constitute a substantial product hazard and also seek mandatory recall remedies for consumers.

In 2013, CPSC filed suit against a company that imported, distributed, and sold infant recliners. (CPSC Docket 13-1) The action sought a determination that the products constituted a substantial product hazard and sought mandatory recall remedies for consumers.

In the Matter of Baby Matters, LLC

CPSC Docket 13-1

Product: Infant Recliners

Issues: (1) The Subject Products are substantial product hazards under Sections 15(a)(1) and (2) of the CPSA, 15 U.S.C. §2064(a), and (2) the Subject Products are intended for use by children and contain defects which create a substantial risk of injury to children under Section 15(c) of the FHSA, 15 U.S.C. §1274(c).

On May 31, 2013, the Commission entered an order accepting a Consent Agreement settling that matter and remanding the case to the court for final disposition. On June 21, 2013, the court entered an order acknowledging the Commission action and dismissing the complaint.

Commission Determined Imminent Hazards - Section 12 of the CPSA

There were no instances in FY 2013 where the Commission took action under section 12 of the CPSA.

PUBLIC OUTREACH

The Commission communicates with the public about product-related hazards through print, broadcast, and online media; its Hotline; Neighborhood Safety Network and other listservs; partnerships and events; and other outreach activities. The Commission also meets with stakeholders to discuss matters related to the mission of the CPSC. This section presents information on many of the activities used to provide safety information to consumers, industry and other stakeholders in 2013 through:

- consumer outreach;
- dissemination of technical information; and
- cooperation between Commission officials and stakeholders.

1) Consumer Outreach: The CPSC alerts the public through about 400 recall announcements each year, print and video news releases, public service announcements, publications, national and local television and radio appearances, the CPSC Hotline, Neighborhood Safety Network, and listservs. The CPSC also communicates with the public through various online media, including:

- CPSC websites (www.CPSC.gov and in Spanish, www.Recalls.gov (a joint site with other federal agencies), www.ATVSafety.gov, www.PoolSafety.gov, www.SaferProducts.gov);
- CPSC information centers (Twelve centers including: cribs, CO and generators, drywall, magnets, poison prevention, resale/thrift stores, window coverings);
- OnSafety blog (www.CPSC.gov/OnSafety);
- recall widget (www.CPSC.gov/cgi-bin/javascripts/widgetrss.html);
- phone app (www.cpsc.gov/en/Newsroom/Subscribe/CPSC-Mobile/); and
- social media sites (Flickr, Foursquare, Google+, Twitter and in Spanish, Slideshare, YouTube and in Spanish,) including interactive applications Google Hang-outs and Twitter parties.

The number of visits to the CPSC's website, www.CPSC.gov, has grown rapidly from about 200,000 visits in 1997, to about 52 million visits in 2013. The increase is due in part to the new CPSC 2.0 social media initiative, including YouTube, Twitter, Flickr, the OnSafety blog, the recall widget and a new, Spanish language presence on CPSC.gov, Twitter and YouTube. In 2010, the CPSC made available for the first time a widget, a Web-based tool that third parties can feature on their Web pages that displays brief summaries and links to the latest CPSC safety information. The presence of the CPSC widget on other organizations' Web pages accounted for tens of millions of additional views of CPSC safety information.

In 2013, the CPSC website, www.CPSC.gov, was in the process of being revamped and enhanced to widen and speed public access to important safety information. The goal of the redesign is to enhance the user experience, improve navigation and search functionality, and streamline the content management and posting processes.

The CPSC also alerts the public through other outreach activities, such as the Neighborhood Safety Network ("NSN"). This is a grassroots program that provides timely, lifesaving information to about 7,000 organizations and individuals who, in turn, share CPSC safety posters, videos and news alerts with underserved consumers who otherwise might be unlikely to hear or receive information from the CPSC.

The Hotline is a toll-free service that allows consumers to report product complaints or product-related injuries, learn about recalls and safety hazards, and obtain safety publications. In 2013, the Hotline received more than 98,000 calls; 3,264 incidents were reported; requests for more than 367,000 publications were fulfilled; and 5,878 e-mails were processed.

The National Injury Information Clearinghouse provides data to the public in response to more than 1,000 requests each year. It also alerts manufacturers to potential hazards associated with their products, providing them with consumer complaints, reported incidents, and incident investigations involving their products.

In December 2008, the Virginia Graeme Baker Pool and Spa Safety Act (“VGB”), which addresses the hazards of child drowning and drain entrapment, went into effect. In 2010, the CPSC awarded a contract to develop and implement a comprehensive information and education campaign that teaches pool and spa safety steps that stress prevention of drowning and entrapment by engaging stakeholders as partners at the national and grassroots levels. Child safety experts work on public and residential drowning prevention programs for parents and children, and industry organizations share VGB compliance information with pool and spa owners and operators.

- 2) Dissemination of Technical Information: As part of the CPSC’s research activities and other support work, the Commission develops many technical reports and presentations to present findings and share ideas. These documents are very useful to other researchers and industry. The reports listed in this section were developed in 2013, and are available on the CPSC’s website.
- 3) Cooperation between Commission Officials and External Stakeholders: In the course of the year, the Commissioners and staff at the CPSC held meetings with consumers, industry, and the public on matters related to the mission of the CPSC. A list of meetings of “substantial interest” for 2013 is provided in this report. CPSC’s Meetings Policy defines “substantial interest” as “any issue that is likely to be the subject of a regulatory or policy decision by the Commission.” The Meetings Policy requires CPSC staff and Commissioners to: (1) announce meetings in advance on the Public Calendar; (2) hold meetings that are open to the public unless certain specified exceptions apply; and (3) submit meeting summaries to the Office of the Secretary. To access the Public Calendar, visit: www.cpsc.gov/Newsroom/Public-Calendar/.

Reached Consumers on Product-Related Hazards

In 2013, CPSC obtained impressions at the following levels:

Import Safety

About 1.8 billion impressions related to messages on import safety were achieved through print, broadcast, and online media outreach. This number is significantly larger than estimates due to significant coverage of recalls of several imported products.

Fire Hazards

About 816 million impressions related to fire safety messages were achieved through newspaper stories, radio stories, social media outreach, TV appearances and video broadcasts. Several recalls of millions of units with fire hazards nearly doubled the exposures from 2012.

Carbon Monoxide (“CO”) Hazards

About 90 million impressions related to carbon monoxide safety messages were achieved through newspaper stories, radio stories, social media outreach, TV appearances and video broadcasts.

Children’s and Other Hazards

About 1.964 billion impressions related to children’s product safety messages were achieved through newspaper stories, radio stories, social media outreach, TV appearances, and video broadcasts.

Conducted Public Information Efforts

In 2013, CPSC staff conducted the following public information efforts:

ATV Safety: An ATV Safety Summit was planned and organized during the summer to address ATV safety issues and took place on October 11–12, 2012. During the year, death and injury data and state ATV regulations were updated regularly on the standalone website, www.ATVSafety.gov, and the website was redesigned as a safety education center and absorbed into CPSC’s main website, www.CPSC.gov. In 2013, more than 30 media outlets were contacted through the CPSC’s Rapid Response efforts, including detailed responses to address ATV policies in Arizona, New Hampshire, South Carolina and Washington, resulting in follow-up stories in prominent state newspapers and on New Hampshire Public Radio. In addition, CPSC designed and deployed an ATV Safety infographic and an NSN poster addressing ATV safety, generated a pre-Memorial Day news release promoting safe ATV riding and frequently used the @OnSafety Twitter account to promote rider safety.

Back to School Safety: CPSC used several communication tools to reach out to schools and families regarding Back-to-School safety. CPSC distributed the CPSC’s Back-to-School safety YouTube video and the Back-to-School safety checklist. CPSC staff posted resources to its website under the Safety Guides tab (www.CPSC.gov/Safety-Education/Safety-Guides) that include sport and recreation safety information, such as resources for bicycle, helmet, and trampoline safety. Also, staff presented school safety information to school administrators and owners, and federal partners monthly through the National School Safety Coalition with Consumers Union. Staff also presented at the CPSC State Designee conference and the Tom Joyner Family Reunion conference. Through other media formats and social media, staff was able to obtain more than an 8 million additional impressions on recalls for products such as bicycles, trampolines, water bottles, scooters, and children's toys. CPSC also provided federal, state, and local partners, including the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration ("NHTSA"), Safe Kids, and the Bicycle Helmet Institute, with school safety recall information on playgrounds and bicycles.

Bicycle/Helmet Safety:

CPSC staff worked with the National School Safety Coalition (Consumers Union), NHTSA, and other state and local partners to disseminate bicycle and bicycle helmet safety information and recalls. Also, CPSC's bicycle and bicycle helmet safety publications including "Sprocketman" coloring book and "Which Helmet for Which Activity" were distributed to school administrators and parents' associations by CPSC staff at school, daycare, and minority outreach conferences. CPSC issued bicycle/helmet and bicycle accessory press releases, a Bike to School safety blog, Tweets and disseminated the Back-to-School safety video to news media. Bicycle and bicycle helmet safety information was also highlighted in Back-to-School messages reaching more than 8 million people.

CO Alarms: Throughout 2013, CPSC stressed the importance of installing CO alarms and replacing batteries in them annually. In two separate news releases, when Daylight Savings Time ended in November 2012, and when it began in March 2013, CPSC urged consumers to replace batteries in their CO alarms annually. CPSC also blogged about the importance of working CO alarms on May 8, 2013 in a Mother's Day blog.

Fireworks Safety: On June 26, 2013, the CPSC launched its annual fireworks safety campaign on the National Mall in Washington, DC. New death and injury data showed an estimated 5,000 consumers were injured by fireworks during the 30 days surrounding July 4 in 2012. An additional 3,700 consumers were treated in hospital emergency rooms due to injuries involving legal and illegal fireworks. There were six firework-related fatalities reported in 2012. A news conference was held on the grounds of the Washington Monument with federal partners, including U.S. Customs and Border Protection, Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives and the Department of Transportation's Pipeline and Hazardous Materials Safety Administration. Prior to the press conference, Chairman Inez Tenenbaum taped sound-bites for CPSC's video news release ("VNR") fed to stations nationwide via satellite on June 26 that was re-aired on June 27, 2013 reaching millions of viewers. During the press conference, CPSC staff demonstrated the dangers associated with fireworks through mannequin simulations involving bottle rockets, sparklers, M-80's and M-1,000's. Chairman Tenenbaum and guest speakers conducted interviews with national and local media immediately following the press event. CPSC staff produced a video news release highlighting key data and demonstrations from the press event. A news release highlighting fireworks injuries and use trends was distributed and posted on the CPSC's website. The Fireworks Safety infographic depicting injury patterns was updated and distributed.

Halloween Hazards: Staff began its Halloween safety efforts by issuing a news release offering easy-to-remember safety tips to prevent fires and burn injuries in October 2012. Staff conducted media interviews with local and national media. A "Deadly Cute" poster was created and distributed to Neighborhood Safety Network partners and posted to the CPSC website. Twitter messages were sent to @OnSafety followers, and the Halloween video PSA was highlighted on the CPSC YouTube page.

Holiday Decoration Hazards: Staff conducted a live fire demonstration at CPSC’s National Product Testing and Evaluation Center to warn consumers about dangers associated with holiday-related products and decorations. Chairman Tenenbaum and representatives from the National Fire Protection Association and Maryland’s Office of the State Fire Marshal described hazards associated with holiday decorations. CPSC staff demonstrated common hazard scenarios associated with candles, lights and dried out evergreens. Media representatives from ABC, NBC, FOX, CNN, AP, and Associated Press attended and reported on the demonstration.

Holiday Shopping/Toy Safety: Chairman Tenenbaum and Deputy Commissioner David Aguilar, U.S. Customs and Border Protection (“CBP”) hosted a national toy safety press conference at Port Elizabeth, NJ to help raise toy safety awareness. CPSC and CBP announced stopped shipments of over two million units of dangerous or violative toys and children’s products that were seized in 2012. Chairman Tenenbaum also conducted toy safety interviews with NBC Today Show and ABC Good Morning America reaching an audience of about nine million viewers. CPSC staff also conducted interviews reaching an additional four million viewers including CNN Espanol and 18 million online publication readers. The toy safety campaign included the distribution of CPSC’s Neighborhood Safety Network (“NSN”) Toy Safety poster and a national press release that highlighted toy recalls declining, local and national interviews, strong toy safety standards on phthalates and lead. CPSC staff also released the Toy Injury and Death report with recent statistics. Overall, the holiday toy safety media and social media campaign secured more than 31 million impressions. In February 2013, Chairman Tenenbaum gave the keynote speech at the annual Toy Industry Association (“TIA”) Toy Fair safety seminar, while staff communicated with hundreds of children’s toy manufacturers at the event.

Home Heating (CO hazards): The CPSC issued an OnSafety blog in February 2013, at the height of home heating season with tips on preventing CO poisoning. Tips included an annual professional inspection of all fuel-burning appliances, CO alarms and running generators outside only.

Home Heating (Fire Hazards): The CPSC issued an OnSafety blog in February 2013 with tips on safe use of space heaters in the home, including keeping space heaters at least three feet away from curtains, bedding and drapes, turning off space heaters when going to sleep, and the importance of having working smoke alarms throughout the home.

Natural Disaster Preparedness: The CPSC issued a press release with FEMA and the USFA on October 30, 2012 warning consumers impacted by Hurricane Sandy about deadly dangers after a storm. The agencies warned consumers to keep generators, charcoal grills and camp stoves outside only to prevent CO poisoning, installing CO alarms, safety with electrical and gas appliances and lines and candle safety to prevent fires.

Poison Prevention: The third week of March is designated as National Poison Prevention Week. To raise awareness about unintentional poison dangers, the CPSC partnered with its North American partners, Health Canada and Profeco. A joint news release offering safety tips was issued by the three product health and safety agencies. In addition, the CPSC partnered with the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission to warn of an emerging hazard associated with single-load laundry packets. CPSC staff also coordinated with the Council to post messages to social media, including daily themed Twitter messages, using a single hash tag, #PreventPoison.

Port Safety: CPSC staff in the Office of Communications and the Office of Import Surveillance coordinated to produce three quarterly news releases highlighting import safety actions that resulted in the seizure of products that violated a federal mandatory standard. Two releases covered the third and fourth quarters of fiscal year 2012 and one release highlighted the first two quarters of fiscal year 2013. CPSC staff coordinated with the U.S. Department of Justice to produce a joint news release announcing the arrest of five individuals and indictment of these individuals and five corporations for allegedly importing hazardous and counterfeit toys from China for sale in the United States.

Portable Gas Generators: CPSC staff issued a press release warning consumers about deadly CO dangers with portable gas generators that were expected to be used in the aftermath of Hurricane Sandy during massive power outages. CPSC also sent out tweets surrounding winter storms about CO safety and the safe use of generators.

Tip-Overs: CPSC staff participated in a Twitter chat to raise awareness on the topic of furniture and television tip overs. Working with Kids in Danger, CPSC distributed messages during the chat helping participants identify the hazard and the steps to remedy the problem. The CPSC promoted the Twitter chat to social networking moms and to media and community groups nationwide. A Neighborhood Safety Network infographic/poster was created and distributed to about 6,000 NSN members. In addition, a news release was sent to media, childcare state officials, and childcare recall e-mail subscribers. Media interviews were conducted for print and television during the fiscal year.

Recall Roundup: CPSC staff reached 102 television stations with live and taped interviews and contributed to various stations' segments on Recall Roundup.

SaferProducts.gov: Throughout the year, CPSC staff directed media contacts to SaferProducts.gov to use data available there. Materials promoting the site, in general, and to specifically targeted audiences, like health professionals, were handed out at every outreach function attended by headquarters and field staff. Feedback from the media and event participants was consistently positive. Numerous call backs from media cited SaferProducts.gov data for subsequent stories. Event participants reported sharing the resource with colleagues and using it to file reports. In 2013, one of the three video PSAs won a Platinum Award from the AVA Digital Awards in the Government Web Video category.

Safety Publication Update: The CPSC updated four safety alert publications, including 423 Paint Stripper Safety, 085 Trampoline Safety, 098 Portable Electric Heater Safety and 5049 Soft Bedding Safety/Bare Is Best. CPSC produced a new safety alert 390 Laundry Packet Safety to warn of incidents with children eating the bright-colored detergent packets and added a new publication 347 Nine Innings of Brain Safety in Baseball.

Smoke Alarms: The CPSC issued news releases to the media in fall 2012 and spring 2013, advising of the importance of working smoke alarms, testing smoke alarms monthly, and the necessity of using new batteries in alarms every year. The CPSC also featured the importance of smoke alarms in its Fire Prevention Week press conference and press release on kitchen fires. CPSC blogged about the importance of working smoke alarms on May 8, 2013 in a blog about Mother's Day. CPSC also tweeted about working smoke alarms and escape plans.

Window Covering Cords: During 2013, CPSC staff promoted window covering safety with new publications, during media interviews, and as a part of recall announcements. CPSC reached out to HUD's Office of Healthy Homes and Lead Hazard Control ("OHHLHC") on the issue. They responded with distribution of CPSC materials and information to the HealthyHomesNet listserv, to program grantees and to the Healthy Homes Work Group. In addition, CPSC developed, posted to CPSC.gov and distributed a new, public service announcement highlighting new and inexpensive cordless window covering options.

Implemented a Minority Outreach Program

In 2013, staff implemented a minority outreach program through:

Minority Outreach Tour: CPSC staff participated in conferences geared toward minority communities and community leaders. CPSC staff also conducted minority outreach activities at events hosted by the following organizations: Children’s Hospital Association - Anaheim, CA; LULAC, Las Vegas, NV; Minority Bloggers, New York, NY; Hispanicize, Miami, FL; National Hispanic Medical Association, Washington, DC and Tom Joyner Family Reunion, Orlando, FL. During these visits, CPSC staff distributed more than 8,000 publications, met with dozens of community leaders, and conducted interviews with media representing minority populations. Many of these organizations signed up to become NSN members and receive e-mail alerts about recalls.

Minority Outreach Awareness Campaign: The minority outreach team in the CPSC’s Office of Communications developed and distributed, through national contacts and visiting six national conferences, targeted safety messaging for minorities, including:

- Bilingual voice-over videos for Get the Word Out on Safety; Dad’s Guide to Fix the Kids; and Pool Safely PSA safety videos. These videos were featured on the CPSC’s Spanish YouTube page, with about 12,000 views.
- Information on major safety campaigns and recalls was translated into Spanish, including: 41 news releases, 17 OnSafety Blogs, and 13 NSN posters.
- The following publications were created in both English and Spanish: Play Yard Standard; Play It Safe: Toy Safety; Laundry Packets; Furniture Tip-overs; In-home Drowning and Poison Prevention NSN posters. In addition, the Baby Safety Shower publication was updated.
- Staff compiled more than 50 new minority media and grassroots organization contacts that have been added to CPSC’s distribution lists, including bloggers and social media outlets targeting minorities.
- Pool Safely hosted its spring launch in 2013 in southeast Washington, DC at a pool frequented by residents from minority groups. The campaign also worked with Washington, DC Department of Parks and Recreation on the spring launch and attended the district’s grand opening at a northeast district pool with Mayor Vincent Gray and other representatives from agencies concerned about the gap in swimming skills for children of color. The campaign also hosted a World’s Largest Swimming Lesson event at a Prince George’s County, MD school attended by minority children. In addition, the campaign updated its video, radio and print PSAs featuring a range of talent that represent African-American and Hispanic minority children and adults (radio voice overs). The Chairman attended an event with partner the ZAC Foundation at a Washington, DC summer day camp frequented by minority children.

Neighborhood Safety Network Membership: Membership in the network averaged about 6,800 throughout 2013. Through the NSN, CPSC continues placing important safety information into the hands of hard-to-reach populations, such as the elderly, urban and rural low-income families and some minority groups, by providing NSN members with timely information and resources for them to disseminate in their communities.

Grassroots Initiative: CPSC staff sent 18 messages to NSN members and completed 13 posters on the topics of toy safety, poison prevention (including laundry packets and carbon monoxide poisoning), furniture tip-over prevention, in-home drowning prevention, fireworks safety, and sleep safety (New Play Yard Rules) for a total of 31 new posters and messages. Another two posters/messages were initiated in 2013, and will be disseminated in 2014.

Informed the Public about Pool and Spa Safety

In 2013, the CPSC informed the public about pool and spa safety through:

Consumer Outreach: In 2013, the CPSC exceeded its goal and achieved more than 695 million impressions by:

- Hosting a 13 station Satellite Media Tour in May with the Chairman and Connie Harvey from the Red Cross, followed by a press briefing and resulting in TV broadcasts and print articles (14 million impressions).
- Placing an Op-Ed written by the Chairman in Newsday in response to two siblings drowning in Long Island that ran.
- Promoting our Twitter handle and increasing followers by nearly 50 percent to 3,462.
- Issuing a pre-July 4 press statement from the Chairman and listserv message were issued, reminding parents to watch their children near water (0.7 million impressions plus 25 Patch stories).
- Publishing a Pool Safely brochure and Tip Card in Spanish in July and producing a Spanish radio script used on Hispanic radio.
- Securing an interview on the Hispanic Communication Network's Show Bienvenidos a America, which was aired on 113 stations, with more than 28 million estimated gross impressions.
- Attending six major industry-association events and meeting with 17 partnership organizations:
 - January 27: Atlantic City Pool and Spa Show
 - February 21-23: Western Pool & Spa by Wid at Long Beach
 - March 13-15: National Drowning Prevention Alliance
 - June 21: Presentation to SafeKids at National Harbor
 - July 8: CDC Model Aquatic Health Code review, Alexandria, VA
 - July 26-28: National Association of Home Inspectors meeting in Orlando
- Attended other events to promote pool and spa safety:
 - April 1: PSSA at San Antonio, TX
 - April 4: PSSA San Diego, CA Safe Kids
 - April 11: Electrical Safety Foundation International ("ESFi") meeting in Alexandria, VA
 - April 30: PSSA Ohio Public Health
- Producing public service announcements ("PSA") for TV and radio in English and Spanish achieving 221.5 million impressions.
- Hosting two webinars, including one for CPSC field personnel in Michigan and a second for partner organization CSN.

Public Information and Education Campaign: In 2013, the CPSC conducted the following information and education activities to address child drowning and entrapment:

- A pre-Memorial Day First Splash launch was held on May 22 in Washington, DC at the Rumsey Pool with Congressman Debbie Wasserman Shultz, Connie Harvey of the American Red Cross, and Katey Taylor mother of entrapment victim Abby Taylor. In addition, the program was represented at the May 24 Washington, DC city summer pool opening event with the Mayor.

- Sponsorship of the World's Largest Swimming Lesson at Rollingcrest-Chillum Splash Pool in Hyattsville, MD on June 18, which included providing 138 facilities with Pool Safely material kits. Participated in a separate event in Bethesda.
- During Pool Safely Week July 28-August 3, 2013, staff featured facilities around the country sharing Pool Safely materials and messages in educational sessions and swim lessons for children. Staff supported these efforts with a midsummer press release reminder about the dangers of drowning. Staff promoted Pool Safely Week at the Jelleff Recreation Center in Washington, DC in conjunction with the CPSC Chairman, Karen Cohn, co-founder of the ZAC Foundation, and the Boys & Girls Clubs of Greater Washington.

PoolSafely.gov Website Development: In 2013, the Pool Safely website (www.PoolSafely.gov) was enhanced through updates to information about compliance issues. Two new features were added: a carousel that is updated regularly with news about our events, and a well-designed and colorful infographic presented data on drowning incidents in pools and spas around the country.

Out Of Home PSAs: Efforts were redirected from Rapid Response efforts toward identifying and securing placement of Pool Safely billboard PSAs in markets with high drowning rates. Billboards in minority neighborhoods of major markets which produced more than 628,000 impressions for the campaign.

Informed the Public about Safe Sleep Environments

In 2013, CPSC informed the public about safe sleep environments for babies through:

Safe Sleep for Babies: Staff distributed the Safe Sleep for Babies video to federal partners, hospitals, clinics, advocacy groups, and online parenting websites to help educate parents and caregivers. The video was also linked throughout social media efforts, including Twitter, Flickr and CPSC's OnSafety blog. Several major juvenile products retailers also linked the "Safe Sleep for Babies" video to their baby registry, in-store monitors, product packaging websites and social media outreach. In addition, CPSC continued educational efforts on baby monitor cords and CPSC's new federal standards including infant swings, bassinets, cradles and play yards. The baby monitor cord safety video reached more than 40 million people with distribution from CPSC and the Juvenile Products Manufacturers Association. CPSC's Crib Information Center was updated with featured resources and videos and the link was distributed to child care organizations, hotels, motels and thrift stores nationwide. CPSC staff also exhibited and attended the Children's Hospital Association in Anaheim, CA, and distributed the safe sleep video to hundreds of hospitals for education classes, in-hospital television networks, and training materials. More than 200 Safe Sleep for Babies videos were distributed directly to hospitals in attendance. Safe Sleep tweets were also featured during CPSC's observance of Black History Month in February 2013 and distributed to minority media and consumers. All of the safe sleep videos, posters and press releases have been translated and distributed to media including Hispanic media. Federal partners, including the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services ("HHS"), the Administration for Children and Families ("ACF"), the Early Head Start program, and WIC program (the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children) continue to use the Safe Sleep for Babies video that was distributed to more than 5,000 centers for use in waiting rooms. The Newborn Channel Network also runs the video on in-house hospital networks, reaching more than 3 million viewers.

Crib Safety Mandatory Standards: The CPSC Chairman and staff conducted numerous outreach activities to highlight the CPSC federal crib standard and the newly passed standards for infant swings, play yards and bassinets and cradles:

- CPSC staff attended a Safe Kids Roundtable with federal and private partners aimed at a unified safe sleep message.
- The play yard NSN poster was distributed to more than 2,500 child care centers and associations nationwide.
- The CPSC partnered through social media efforts with retailers and parent publications and websites to get the word out about safe sleep and the crib standard.
- The Office of Communications staff distributed crib, bassinet, cradle and play yard standard materials through six major national conferences, including the Children’s Hospital Association, the Congressional Black Caucus, Tom Joyner Family reunion conference, as well as through state designees.

Safe Sleep Environments: In 2013, CPSC staff worked to inform consumers about the dangers associated with children’s products, including infant slings, sleep positioners, and baby monitor cords, and to explain the new crib, infant swing, bassinet and cradle, and play yard standards. Press releases and media interviews were conducted throughout the year, and social media efforts included hosting a Twitter party on safe sleep and several Safe Sleep articles in Parents, Parenting and American Baby magazines. A webinar was hosted with partner HRSA during baby safety month in September 2013. CPSC also continued to distribute the Bare is Best NSN poster that was placed on the Crib Information Center, distributed through NSN, child care and parent blogs, websites, and retailer outreach. The CPSC Chairman and staff hosted a satellite media tour during Baby Safety Month (September) to highlight safe sleep environments and the new crib standard. The CPSC Safe Sleep for Babies video and the baby monitor cord safety alert, video, and blog were posted on the Crib Information Center and distributed through federal and industry partners. CPSC staff worked with federal interagency workgroups, including the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services’ Sudden and Unexpected Infant/Child Death/Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (“SUID/SIDS”) interagency workgroup to distribute safe sleep press releases, videos and social media, as well as the National Partnership for Action (“NPA”) Federal Interagency Health Equity Team (“FIHET”). CPSC staff presented and exhibited at two national childcare professional conferences and one Children’s Hospital Association (“CHA”) conference.

Reaching Consumers on Safe Sleep: The CPSC achieved 1.96 billion impressions through television, radio, print and social media outlets, including blogs and tweets.

INTERGOVERNMENTAL COORDINATION

The Commission works with many agencies over the course of a year. This section describes the significant coordination the CPSC has had with other governmental organizations. Specifically, this section provides information on: (1) a major state-supported safety initiative for the Virginia Graeme Baker Pool and Spa Safety Act and Safety Standards for Full-Size Baby Cribs and Non-Full-Size Baby Cribs; (2) the Commission's efforts coordinating with state and local programs; and (3) significant communication with other governmental agencies and offices, including any notification under section 218 of the CPSIA.¹⁰ In 2013, no state or local official filed a written notice to the Commission under section 218 of the CPSIA.

1) Major State-Supported Safety Initiatives

Virginia Graeme Baker Pool and Spa Safety Act ("VGBA"): The VGBA affects public pools and spas nationwide, and the Commission's enforcement of the Act requires the cooperation of state and local agencies. In 2013, states worked cooperatively with the CPSC to conduct inspections of pool sites to verify compliance with the Act.

Safety Standard for Full Size Baby Cribs and Non Full Size Baby Cribs at 16 C.F.R. Parts 1219 and 1220: CPSC staff worked with state child care licensing bureaus to conduct inspections of child care facilities, family child care homes, and daycare centers to determine compliance with the final rule. During the on-site visits, States provided CPSC educational materials to child care providers. Inspection reports were submitted to the CPSC for the appropriate follow up and corrective action.

2) State and Local Programs

Section 29(a) of the Consumer Product Safety Act requires that the Commission establish a program to promote federal-state cooperation for the purpose of carrying out the Act. The goal of the program is to reduce consumer product related deaths and injuries by leveraging CPSC resources through cost-effective cooperation with state and local governments. In 2013, activities included the following:

- Assigning compliance and enforcement activities to the states. The table below provides the number of CPSC assignments to state officials made during the year;
- Supporting states through technical assistance and participation in conferences;
- Monitoring industry's compliance with CPSC mandatory laws;
- Engaging in outreach and dissemination of information through multiple venues, such as journal, print, electronic media, and presentations sharing product safety research;
- Hosting the State Designee training meeting at CPSC headquarters, training by Field staff and conference calls for state designees;

¹⁰ [Section 218 of the CPSIA amends the CPSA, Prohibited Acts, allowing] the attorney general of a state, or other authorized state officer, alleging a [specified] violation ... of the Act, ... on behalf of the residents of the state, ... to obtain appropriate injunctive relief. [The Act requires] a state [to] provide written notice to the Commission [prior] to initiate[ing] civil action by filing a complaint, ... at least 30 days before [unless] ... immediate action is necessary. The Commission may intervene in such civil action.

- Working to meet or exceed annual performance goals. In 2013, state partners conducted product safety activities, including recall checks and inspections, and completed 100 percent within 90 or fewer days after assignment.

4) International Training Activity

As part of a strategy for addressing the growing complexity and risk entailed within additional global sources of production, the CPSC’s Global Outreach program works to reduce the number of recalls through outreach and education for foreign manufacturers and regulators. Global Outreach programs include outreach and capacity building to ensure that manufactured products meet U.S. safety requirements. The CPSC works with U.S. trading partners at the outset of the manufacturing process to increase their ability to produce products that comply with U.S. safety requirements. The list below is a summary of international training activities completed in 2013.
